

Private Cloud

IT resources are provided as a service exclusively to one customer to meet requirements on privacy, security, and trust while enabling elastic use of a static resources.

How can the cloud properties be provided in environments with high privacy, security and trust requirements?

