

Feature Flag Management Process

If the cloud cannot provide required resources in time, application features by are degraded gracefully in order to keep vital features operational.

How can the performance of an application degrade gracefully, if the experienced workload increases but additional cloud resources are unavailable or take too long to provision?

